WR, Faubus Targets in Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Several of the gubernatorial candidates spoke Saturday at rallies at West Memphis and Forrest City and most focused their speeches on Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and former Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

W. S. Cheekof West Memphis, a Democratic candidate, said at West Memphis that Faubus helped Rockefeller in the 1966 gubernatorial campaign.

Cheek said Faubus, then retiring from office, disliked Jim Johnson, the 1966 Democratic nominee, and supplied Rockefeller with lists of the names of state employes and welfare recipients.

Cheek said Rockefeller then sent letters to the state employes saying they would retain their jobs if he were elected and wrote welfare recipients saying they would not be cut from the welfare rolls.

Faubus, a candidate again, said at Forrest City that if he is nominated by the Democratic party he would keep "the drugstore cowboy" busy in the general election. He was referring to Rockefeller.

Faubus said the main issue in the Democratic race was "who can beat the money machine" of Rockefeller.

Bill Wells of Hermitage, another Democratic candidate, said at West Memphis that the administrations of Faubus and Rockefeller contributed to a state population loss of 100,000 persons over the past 10 years. Wells said that at the normal birth rate the state should have 200,000 more residents now than 10 years ago, but that the number was half that. Wells said at Forrest City that, "We should turn back the Republican party and end the blight now covering Arkansas."

James MacKrell of North Little Rock, a Republican, said at West Memphis that the chief issue in the campaign was relieving the state of the "blight of the WR brand." Lester Gibbs, another Republican candidate, spoke at Forrest City and West Memphis.

Dale Bumpers of Charleston, a Democrat, said the amount of money Rockefeller would spend in his campaign for reelection was "an open insult" to the state's voters. Bob Compton of El Dorado, also a Democrat, called for tax equity in speeches at Forrest City and West Memphis.

Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, a Democratic candidate for governor, promised the crowd at Forrest City that he would completely reorganize the state Revenue Department if he is elected.

Purcell said the reorganization would result in the collection of several million tax dollars now lost because of bad management.

The attorney general also said he could not understand why the slogan "Land of Opportunity" was removed from the Arkansas motor vehicle license tag during the Rockefeller administration.

"Perhaps the only logical explanation for its removal is the work of the prophets of doom who knew that under this administration Arkansas would not be a land of opportunity," Purcell said.

70 Arrested at Conn. Rock Festival

By MARC CHARNEY
Associated Press Writer

MIDDLEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — State police arrested at least 70 people on a variety of drug charges Sunday as thousands of young people departed the site of the Powder Ridge rock festival.

A few hundred youths remaining at the festival site kept up an impromptu rhythm band and flute music, camped in tents, or sold their remaining drugs. Many of them said they too would be gone soon, although a few vowed to be the last to leave.

The festival was banned by a court order last Monday, but an estimated 25,000 youths showed up and provided their own rock fest.

The prosecutor enforcing the order had ruled there could be no music, and early in the festival the owners of the ski resort complied.

But by Saturday night the bands had moved into the [illegible] Amplifiers were set up and more than 10,000 [illegible] rock bands playing on two hillsides. Thousands more milled between the bands, hawking drugs in an area in front of the ski lodge that came to resemble a marketplace.

The bands had announced there would be more music Sunday night but most of the audience had left by sundown and the plans fell through.

Police had refrained from entering Powder Ridge in uniform during the festival, and had told the crowd they would not forcibly break up the gathering.

They Fail to Understand Student Fear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House adviser James Cheek says the administration fails to understand student fears of repression, but Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell says the whole issue is more talk than anything else.

"Nobody says what the repression is," Mitchell said Sunday.

But he said that to help counter the "rhetoric of repression," administration representatives, including Justice Department lawyers, would visit campuses this fall to try to build a better dialogue with students.

Cheek, meanwhile, commented that while "It is difficult for the President to understand us ... repression is what some students and blacks believe is happening."

Cheek, a Negro who heads Howard University, said he was "very, very pessimistic" about the outlook for peace on the campuses this fall. Mitchell said he thought colleges would be calmer, with militants finding themselves without a following.

Cheek was interviewed on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" while Mitchell was questioned on ABC's similar "Issues and Answers."

Today, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., complained in remarks for the Senate that two government studies on campus turmoil "appear to be weighted in favor of those who have caused trouble."

Byrd criticized the President's Commission on Campus Unrest and a report to President Nixon by Cheek and Vanderbilt Chancellor Alexander Heard.

Kennedy Kicked LBJ 'Upstairs'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former presidential aide Kenneth O'Donnell says John F. Kennedy chose Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate in 1960 because he felt that if elected he would be unable to "live with" Johnson as Senate majority leader.

O'Donnell, who served in both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, said that four years later Johnson wanted Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana as his vice president for the same reason—to remove him from the key Senate leadership post.

O'Donnell's observations in the Aug. 7 issue of Life magazine are from a book he is writing. In addition to domestic politics, the account offers new background on early decisions on America's involvement in Vietnam.

O'Donnell said Kennedy, after consulting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Mansfield in 1961 and 1962, agreed with both on "the need for a complete military withdrawal from Vietnam" but planned to withhold announcement until after the 1964 election.

Mansfield confirmed Sunday that Kennedy had "definitely and unequivocally" made the withdrawal decision in the spring of 1963, the Washington Post reported in today's editions.

On the selection of Johnson for the vice presidency, O'Donnell quoted Kennedy as offering this explanation at the 1960 Democratic convention:

"I'm 43 years old, and I'm the healthiest candidate for president in the United States. You've traveled with me enough to know that. I'm not going to die in office. So the vice presidency doesn't mean anything.

"I'm thinking of something else, the leadership of the Senate. If we win, it will be by a small margin and I won't be able to live with Lyndon Johnson as the leader of a small Senate majority. Did it occur to you that if Lyndon becomes the vice president, I'll have Mike Mansfield as the Senate leader, somebody I can trust and depend on?"

On the Vietnam involvement, O'Donnell wrote:

"President Kennedy first began to have doubts about our military effort in Vietnam in 1961, when both Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Charles de Gaulle warned him that the Asian mainland was no place to be fighting a nonnuclear land war."

"MacArthur was extremely critical of the military advice the President had been getting from the Pentagon," he wrote. "MacArthur went on to point out that there were domestic problems — the urban crisis, the ghettos, the economy — that should have far more priority than Vietnam.

"Kennedy came out of the meeting somewhat stunned. That a man like MacArthur should give him such unmilitary advice impressed him enormously."

The following year, O'Donnell says, Mansfield returned from a visit to Southeast Asia and "emphatically advised, first, a curb on sending more military reinforcements to South Vietnam and, then, a withdrawal of U.S. forces from that country's civil war."

After criticism from Mansfield in 1963 for his support of the Diem regime in Saigon, O'Donnell says, Kennedy told him he agreed the United States should withdraw but told him that "if he announced a total withdrawal ... before the 1964 election, there would be a wild conservative outcry against returning him to the presidency for a second term."

O'Donnell was White House appointments secretary under Kennedy and after Kennedy's assassination Nov. 22, 1963, remained under President Johnson as a special aide until after the 1964 campaign.

He also says that Johnson was clearly opposed to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as a running mate and "frequently ridiculed the garrulous Minnesota senator in private."

As president, Johnson was "obsessed" with the idea that Robert Kennedy would try to force himself into the vice presidency in 1964, says O'Donnell, although Kennedy had privately rejected that possibility and laid plans to run for the Senate in New York.

Reds Show Interest, No Arms Action

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets are showing serious interest in the United States' proposal to limit strategic missiles but have yet to commit themselves on its key features.

This initial Soviet reaction has emerged from accounts of the two formal meetings and other discussions at the U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) at Vienna last week following the American offer.

The Russians were said to be seeking more information about the U.S. plan while neither committing themselves to it nor making polemic statements against it.

Washington officials therefore continue to be encouraged about the prospects for reaching an historic agreement on curbing the superpower nuclear arms race, though a formal pact would still seem to be many months away.

The Vienna talks are expected to recess this summer, then resume in the fall in Helsinki where the SALT talks began last year.

U.S. negotiator Gerard C. Smith set forth the U.S. proposal last January.

It would limit the number of long range offensive missiles to current stockpiles, or less, and would also place a ceiling on defense antiballistic missiles (ABM).

The most important feature of the plan, in the United States' view, would be its restraint on the Soviet SS-9 missiles which would be kept at their current number of about 300.

The huge SS-9 is rated by U.S. strategists as capable of knocking out the war-deterrent Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) in its silo. The Pentagon says the Soviets are pressing ahead with a build-up of their SS-9 force.

The U.S. proposal also is understood to offer the Soviets an option on the ABM—either ABMs on both sides, or limiting ABMs to national command centers such as the 64-launcher system now in place around Moscow.

This would give the Soviets a choice of dismantling their Moscow ABM system or allowing the Americans, who are just starting to build an ABM system, to construct one around Washington or some other command point.

Neither option appears to fit the controversial Safeguard ABM proposal now being debated in the Senate. The Safeguard sites in the administration-backed bill before the Senate are in the U.S. plan for protection of Minutemen there.

Supporters of the administration program said if the Soviets agree to a zero ABM pact, the U.S. Safeguard program could be abandoned without jeopardizing United States security.

If the Soviets opt for a national command authority ABM, administration backers said, the U.S. Safeguard program could be inexpensively relocated because the only installation work done on the Safeguard so far is tow holes in the ground.

Confer on Anti-Crime Fund Checkup

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon meets in Denver today with state officials responsible for overseeing the use of federal law enforcement grants. He plans to seek their support for anticrime legislation.

Nixon, who has proposed 13 anticrime measures to Congress, said last week that since only one has been signed into law he would take advantage of the Denver conference to make a new appeal for congressional action on the other long-pending measures.

With the President for his 4½-hour visit to Colorado's capital en route back to Washington after a working holiday at the Western White House were to be Mrs. Nixon and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Some 200 state, territorial and District of Columbia officials responsible for spending grants from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration were in Denver to meet with Nixon.

The federal grants are aimed at improving the criminal justice system, including police departments, the courts and correctional institutions.

While Nixon and Mitchell are meeting with the LEAA funds administrators, Mrs. Nixon is to visit a home for delinquents and an antipoverty project center.

Major Colorado Republican figures—including Gov. John A. Love and Sen. Gordon Allott—and one Democrat, Denver Mayor William McNichols, were scheduled to welcome the presidential party to Colorado's mile-high capital.

Nixon, who flew to California with his wife on July 24, spent a relaxed if somewhat peripatetic weekend with two friends who flew in from the East.

Accompanied by C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo of Key Biscayne, Fla., and industrialist Robert Abplanalp of Bronxville, N.Y., Nixon drove Saturday to his birthplace at Yorba Linda, then to his old college at Whittier. He wound up eating a dish called "hobo steak" at Chasen's Restaurant in Los Angeles. The only aide who make the jaunt was foreign policy adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

The party returned to San Clemente by helicopter near midnight—after purposely eluding a group of newsmen and photographers who had been assembled by the White House to follow along.

Fayetteville Escapees Rounded Up

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Four prisoners escaped from the Washington County Jail early Sunday, but all were back in custody by Sunday night.

David M. Honea, 18, of Van Buren and Robert Lee Grubbs, 19, of Fayetteville were captured less than an hour after the escape at a roadblock between Lincoln and Prairie Grove near Fayetteville.

Thomas Jerome Bullock, 31, of Springdale and Robert L. Phillips, 30, of Odessa, Tex., were captured as they picnicked on Beaver Fork Lake near Conway, according to State Trooper John Purcell.

Sheriff Bill Long of Washington County said the four used a homemade key to unlock the door of the cell block of the jail. He said the facility was built in 1904 and that it would be easy to fashion a key that would unlock the door.

He said 21 prisoners occupied the jail when the escape occurred but no other prisoners escaped.

Purcell said he, Officer Herschel Henderson of the Conway Police Department and Chief Deputy Sheriff Lee Hogan of Faulkner County surprised Bullock and Phillips as they sat on a bank of the lake in a public swimming area. The trooper said the escapees had been swimming.

With them were Bullock's wife and daughter, Purcell said.

He said Bullock and Phillips apparently drove to near Conway in what was believed to be a stolen car.

Long said Bullock was sentenced to 15 years for second-degree rape, Honea to two years for grand larceny and Grubbs to four years for burglary and grand larceny. He said Phillips was awaiting trial on burglary and grand larceny charges.

New Courses Aim to Quiet the Campuses

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's state universities are responding to student demands for more relevant studies and a greater voice in designing their education programs with a wide variety of new course offerings, a new study shows.

The National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, in a survey of its 114 members, said new courses range from one in philosophy at the University of Nebraska that will go into sexual morality, drug abuse, racism and violence to a community service program at the University of North Carolina where students can earn up to $1,000.

Students have demanded on many campuses a voice in shaping what they study to obtain their degrees. The University of Hawaii, Cornell University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology have announced new programs giving students a voice in what subjects they will take to earn their majors.

At the same time, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the University of Rhode Island said students would have more freedom in selecting their courses.

There appears to be a rush on most campuses to new courses in environmental control and ethnic studies.

The environmental field has a wide range of subject matter. The University of Arizona is offering Environmental Politics and the University of Iowa Industry and the Natural Environment, while Clemson University, Washington State University and the University of California at Davis have programs on contemporary environmental issues, environmental science and a new living-learning environment studies program.

U.S. Gives Cambodians Air Cover

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes were reported flying combat missions in support of Cambodian troops southwest of Phnom Penh today, while to the north of the capital Cambodian and Communist troops battled in the streets of Kompong Thom.

Little ground fighting was reported in South Vietnam, but the U.S. Command reported 33 enemy rocket and mortar attacks in the last 24 hours, the largest number in a day since June 28. The command said all the casualties were Vietnamese, including 10 killed and 24 wounded in the town of Giong Trom in the Mekong Delta.

In Laos, Indochina's third war front, a new peace initiative got under way, but there was no prospect of speedy and decisive developments.

U.S. Air Force Phantoms were reported in action in Cambodia in support of five government battalions massed on the slopes of the Kiri Rom plateau for an attempt to retake the 2,000-foot-high area from Viet Cong and North Vietnamese who captured it last week.

Col. Sar Hor, the government and deputy military commander of the province southwest of Phnom Penh, told Associated Press correspondent T. Jeff Williams that the U.S. Phantoms were dropping bombs and napalm on Kiri Rom and on enemy forces between his headquarters at Kompong Speu and Kiri Rom.

Fulbright Asks Look at Treaty

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright challenged today a pending executive military agreement with Spain, charging that the pact involves commitments which should be subject to Senate confirmation.

The Arkansas Democrat said the White House plan, ostensibly extending U.S. use of three bases in Spain for five years, contains provisions which would lead to mushroomed costs and perhaps even Vietnam-type entanglements.

In remarks prepared for floor delivery, Fulbright called for legislation that would force President Nixon to submit the measure as a treaty.

Fulbright's move carried the same overtones as the Cooper-Church amendment, recently passed by the Senate, which would limit Nixon's powers for military involvement in Cambodia.

He said the executive agreement, scheduled for signing in two weeks, could produce "direct and indirect costs of ... $400 million over five years."

"The Portuguese, the Greeks, the Turks, the Ethiopians, the Thais, the Filipinos, the South Koreans, the Taiwanese, even the Japanese, are watching to see what kind of settlement the Spaniards received," he said.

"We have bases in each one of those countries and thus the costly price paid Spain could and probably would be repeated many times over."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, noted the administration had presented details of the proposed agreement in closed sessions a week ago—but under provisions of secrecy.

While he did not disclose specifics, Fulbright emphasized it amounted to a military "commitment" to Spain, rather than merely the use of her facilities for stationing of U.S. troops.

He termed the new agreement "the boldest ... attempt by the executive branch since World War II to have a security treaty by executive agreement and thus avoid the need for Senate advice and consent."

Oswald: "East wanted to stick in a two-spade bid over North's two clubs, but decided that his vulnerability made that action too dangerous. South arrived at four hearts and West opened the deuce of diamonds. East decided on a brilliant false card to get his partner to lead a spade if he ever gained the lead. East played the king, not the queen. South won the trick, took his ace and king of trumps and went after clubs in the hope of getting a quick discard. West foiled this plan by ruffing the third club. Then West shifted to the deuce of spades. The king was played from dummy. East took his ace, cashed the queen of diamonds and then tried to collect the setting trick with the queen of spades."

Jim: "That would have to be all for the defense, because South would ruff, enter dummy with the trump nine and discard his last diamond on the last club. What did East have to say?"

Oswald: "East explained that he was afraid his partner didn't hold the jack of diamonds and that he could see that discard if declarer gained the lead."

Jim: "Typical muddled thinking. If East had stopped to count, he would know that West had led the fourth-best diamond, so that South's original distribution had been 1-6-3-3. Hence, there would be no chance to cash a second spade trick and a diamond continuation was necessary."

Oswald: "Unfortunately, East had been too happy about the success of his own brilliance to bother to count. He was going to set the hand himself."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Andy Griffith and associates were organizing his new CBS series, "Headmaster," Andy said he would like "a Parker Fennelly-type" to play the school custodian.

In a rare demonstration of direct action, Fennelly's agent was reached. The actor was signed to play a role that, over years of radio, films and television, has become his specialty: homely New England philosopher.

Fennelly, a professional actor since 1916, was hired to play Titus Moody in the "Fred Allen Show" of radio in the late 1940s.

The tall, spare, white-haired astor, his Maine accent undiluted after an absence of 40 years from his native state, explained that he is kept busy because "actors of a certain age are likely to be retired —or dead."

Fennelly's Titus Moody occupied a house in Allen's Alley for three seasons and his "howdy, Bub" became a catch phrase.

"Fred, who came from the Boston area, always liked New England characters," Fennelly said. "When the series was over, he gave me the character name and the use of all the Titus Moody material."

Allen's hour, which moved to television for half a season, was killed by public enthusiasm for one of the first big-money giveaway shows.

For the past 16 years Fennelly has been the advertising spokesman — giving dry New England advice — for a bakery products company.

"I pretty nearly always am playing the same character, although the names are different," he said.

It will still be Titus, but he is called "Mr. Purdy," in the Griffith series. As usual, he'll pause while clipping a hedge or painting a wall to deliver some wry humorous wisdom such as, "You can thank your lucky stars that you're good enough to be ordinary instead of outstanding."

NBC News is handling the transition from its two-man evening news program to a three-man operation very smoothly. The final program in which Chet Huntley and David Brinkley co-starred on Friday wound up gracefully, with thanks from the former and a humor-touched farewell from the latter. With the Saturday night news, the new order quietly took over.

His Planes Sabotaged, WR Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rckefeller believes sabotage led to a malfunction in the landing gear of a plane in which he and seven other persons were riding in 1967.

The governor's twin - engine plane landed safely Aug. 3, 1967, after circling the Memphis airport for 1½ hours while those aboard tried to fix one wheel that failed to retract after the plane left Little Rock.

Repeated pounding on a lever to the landing mechanism finally got the wheel working again. The other two wheels could not be lowered again for a landing until the third worked properly.

Rockefeller made his statement about sabotage in an interview after other sources had reported that sabotage was suspected in the near-disaster.

The governor also said that within three months of that event, another act of sabotage was discovered in the landing gear of another of his planes prior to a takeoff.

Rockefeller said the conclusion that sabotage was involved was not revealed before because his security advisers suggested it might incite others to make attempts on his life.

"We have never been able to trace either of them, and I've been a little surprised that it couldn't have been traced because there are not that many competent aviation mechanics in Arkansas," Rockefeller said.

"You could cut it down to a couple of hundred people who would have been knowledgeable enough of aircraft to have done it," he said. "But if you are employed to go in and do your thing and never horse around again, it's pretty hard to identify you."

Gene Young, the governor's chief security aide, confirmed the sabotage report.

Young said that after the Beechcraft landed safely at Memphis, an inspection showed scratch marks within the landing gear housing that indicated that an iron bar or pipe had been wedged into the assembly to prevent proper function.

No pipe or bar was found to confirm the theory, but Young, convinced of his verdict, believes the object fell from the plane over Memphis while those within the aircraft literally jumped on a mechanism they hoped would loosen the jammed gear.

GOP 'Feeds' Denounced by Hampton

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. R. J. Hampton, a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, says Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has planned 128 "feeds" that Hampton says will cost an estimated $660,000.

"He couldn't get a crowd of 20 people" without such expenditures, Hampton added Saturday at a news conference. He said the governor had spent $5,600 "on the feed in Forrest City" at the opening of his headquarters there.

Hampton also attacked Rockefeller's relationship with the legislature.

"He is grossly inefficient and ineffective in his dealings with the Arkansas General Assembly," Hampton said. "There has been no indication that he would have any more success with the legislature in the future than in the past. Winthrop Rockefeller gets little out of the legislature because he does not treat our representatives with the dignity they deserve."

Hampton noted that state Rep. Sterling Cockrill, a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, had said he could aid the Republican administration in dealing with the legislature. Cockrill, a former majority leader of the House, switched to the GOP in the spring.

"Rockefeller obviously needs such a crutch," Hampton said. "I do not. I will deal directly with the men who make the laws that keep us free."

Hampton said that if Rockefeller was "really concerned about the progress of this state" he would withdraw from the gubernatorial race.

"If I had the indications that he has, I would do so today," Hampton said.

WHERE THERE'S A WILL— IT'S A LOT EASIER

Dear Helen:

My husband and I are in our mid-30s. He's strong and healthy and he figures making a real will is as pessimistic as buying a cemetery lot. However, there are complications in our lives, like a second marriage and children from both. We have considerable property.

As a sop, he scribbled a little "In the event of my death..." thing with vague directions, and a couple of signatures by friends.

Is this enough, Helen? —C.F.

Dear C.:

A holographic will is not even legal in some states. In others, your husband's vague document might cause complications that could tie up an estate for years.

You both need wills. They should be either drawn up, or checked over thoroughly by a lawyer to see that all areas are covered. This doesn't take much time, and the cost is reasonable. Make an appointment, and see that your husband keeps it. —H.

Dear Helen:

I am plain sick and tired of being told I am "thin." Why can't people realize it is as cruel to make remarks about how little a person weighs as to say they're obese. They'd never tell a woman, "You're so-o-o-o fat!" Why can't they extend the same consideration to us skinny ones? I've suffered these remarks for over 20 years. —UNHAPPILY THIN

Dear Thin:

Those remarks won't hurt so much when you consider they're mainly from envy. "Thin" means skinny to you, but to a weightwatcher, it's heaven. Make the most of your "little," and when people mention it, say, "Thanks, you're looking well too." —H.

Dear Helen:

These bright, aware young couples who say they won't have children but will adopt to help the population problem, should look at recent statistics. The way things are going, they won't have a chance to adopt, unless they really want to help the world and will take a baby from a minority race.

Major adoption agencies in the United States report that the number of white babies up for adoption declined almost 15 percent in 1969, and will drop even faster now that legal abortions are available, and the stigma of unwed motherhood is lessening, not to speak of the Pill becoming accepted among young unmarrieds.

On the other hand, unwanted minority-race children face a 40 per cent chance of having no real home.

Why don't we ask these no-children people to put their actions where their voices are and search out the hard-to-place homeless youngsters who really need them? —DOUBTFUL

Dear Doubtful:

In fairness to these moderns, I must say that quite a number already have "put their actions where their voices are." That's why the Transracial Adoptive Parents society is a going concern. It's headquarters are 200 Scranton Avenue, Lake Bluff, Illinois, 60044. —H.

Lightning Kills Golfer at El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Russell Johnson, 19, of El Dorado was killed by lightning and his father and brother were injured critically Sunday afternoon on an El Dorado golf course.

Roy Johnson, 47, an executive of the Murphy Oil Corp. in El Dorado, and his son, Ronald, 15, were hospitalized at El Dorado.

John Greer and his 1-year-old son, who were with the Johnsons, escaped injury.

Authorities said the Johnsons huddled under a tree at the El Dorado Country Club when the thundershower began and were struck during the first clap of thunder. Witnesses reported that the Johnsons were thrown several feet into the air.

Orioles Beat Royals 23rd Straight Time

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Attendance was not mandatory, but Bill Zepp showed up for Minnesota's game and some 20,000 fans turned out in Milwaukee, making it a pleasant day for the Twins and the Brewers.

But the Kansas City Royals, forced to appear before the Baltimore Orioles one more time, came away with the expected gloomy ending.

For the 23rd straight time, the Orioles beat the Royals, this time 10-8 Sunday, extending their major league record for successive victories by one team over another.

The Royals have only one consolation: they don't have to face the Orioles again until next season.

On the happier side, however, Zepp, who reportedly had asked earlier to be sent to the minor leagues nearer his family, apparently decided to stay with the Twins and pitched them past Detroit 4-3.

In Milwaukee, not only did the Brewers break a three-game losing steak with a 9-5 victory over the New York yankees, but the game attracted 20,365 fans. That gave the Brewers a season attendance of 678,087 for 53 dates, more than the team's total attendance of 677,944 all last year in Seattle.

Elsewhere in the American League, California broke a five-game spin with an 8-3 triumph over Boston, Cleveland downed the Chicago White Sox 4-2 and then lost 8-7 and Washington beat Oakland 6-2 and then lost, 1-0.

In the National League, San Diego swept past the New York Mets 3-0 and 4-2, Pittsburgh outslugged Atlanta 10-7, Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 11 innings, Los Angeles trimmed Montreal 6-3, Philadelphia nipped San Francisco 7-6 and St. Louis beat Houston 3-2.

Curt Motton played the role of the villain for Baltimore this time, driving in five runs with a homer and a triple as the Orioles built a 10-5 lead. Mike Cuellar, 15-6, picked up the victory, although he didn't last six innings.

The triumph gave the Orioles a sweep of 12 games the teams played this season, adding to the 11 in a row they won in 1969 after the Royals won the first meeting of the clubs.

"We'll get them next year," was all Manager Bob Lemon of the Royals could say—hopefully indicating the Royals would show up in 1971.

Zepp, too, apparently will be around, and not only because of the way he is pitching. Minnesota Manager Bill Rigney said Sunday Zepp is staying with the team.

Zepp doesn't care to talk about his problems off the field, and he has few to talk about on the field. Raising his record to 6-1, he stopped the Tigers on six hits and one earned run for 8 1-3 innings before Detroit scored two tainted runs in the ninth and Ron Perranoski and Stan Williams helped him out.

Zepp also had a single which led to the decisive run in the fifth inning after Tony Oliva hit his 18th homer and Harmon Killebrew hit his 33rd with a man on for the 3-1 lead.

In Milwaukee, the Brewers celebrated their big year at the box office by ending New York's six-game winning streak with a late inning attack. Phil Roof's infield hit scored Ted Savage with the tie-breaking run in the seventh, and Savage added two more runs with a homer in the eighth.

California, after losing nine of 10 games, broke loose behind rookie Tom Bradley, who picked up his first major league victory with help in the ninth after Tony Conigliaro slugged a three-run homer for Boston. Jim Fregosi and Ken McMullen homered for the Angels, who ended a runless streak of 24 innings.

Bill Melton's two-run, two-out blast, his 19th, in the ninth inning off Dick Ellsworth, salvaged a split for the White Sox after the Indians had scored twice in the top of the inning.

Mike Kilkenny, 4-6, yielded only four hits in seven innings of the opener and Dennis Higgins finished up for Cleveland, who got a homer from Duke Sims.

Ed Stroud stroked three hits and scored three runs as Jim Hannan and Darold Knowles combined to pitch Washington past Oakland in their first game.

Don Mincher's 18th homer with two out in the ninth inning won for Oakland in the nightcap. It came off Horacio Pena, 3-1, in his third inning of relief for Joe Coleman, who left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Jim Grant, 5-0, got the victory, taking over for Rollie Fingers, who also had left for a hitter in the eighth inning.

Aussie Wins Westchester Golf Classic

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "We're not machines out there, we're human beings," Bruce Crampton said after pocketing the $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Golf Classic.

"We have nerves. We have stomach aches. We have a basic sense of insecurity. And we have ears."

The handsome Australian had his ears tuned to the gallery behind him as he played down the stretch of the $250,000 Classic Sunday with the awesome Jack Nicklaus and young Larry Hinson breathing down his neck.

"It's uncomfortable to have any of these fellows behind you because they're all so good," Crampton said. "But with Nicklaus it is really unnerving. He is the best golfer in the world. There is no telling what he will do."

Crampton rolled in dramatic birdie shots from off the green on the 16th and 17th holes—chipping in from 15 feet on one and sinking a 20-foot putt on the other—and then played the final hole in a safe par five for a 67 and a winning score of 273.

"While I was on the 17th, I listened for the reaction of the Nicklaus and Hinson gallery on the 16th," the curly-haired Australian tour regular said. "I didn't hear any cheers. I heard an ah-h-h. I knew then that there hadn't been a birdie and one or both of them had got a bogey.

Nicklaus bogeyed the 206-yard par 3 hole after bunkering his tee shot and momentarily fell three shots back of the leader with two holes to play.

Then it was Nicklaus' turn to hear a gallery roar as Crampton, playing with Dave Hill, knocked in his second birdie in a row.

"I knew then I had to finish 3-3," Jack said. Both he and Hinson, a 25-year-old member of golf's new mod squad, hit two mighty shots to the 538-yard closing hole and sank eagle putts of 20 and 10 feet, respectively, to tie for second place at 274.

They missed by just one stroke. Each collected $23,125.

The battle for the $50,000 check, the year's largest to date, settled down to a three-way scramble among Crampton, Nicklaus and Hinson after other challenges faded in the closely bunched field.

PGA champion Ray Floyd with a 68 moved in to tie with little known Jerry Heard, 67, for fourth money at 277. Defending champion Frank Beard (69), Dave Hill (71), Arnold Palmer (68), John Schroeder (70), Phil Rodgers (67), Tommy Weiskopf (65) and Tommy Aaron (70) tied at 278.

"I suppose I thought about the money some but mainly I just thought about winning the tournament," said Crampton.

Nicklaus, who has played for $50,000 many times and won his share, added, "I never think about the size of the purse. I play as hard for $10,000 as I would $100,000."

Robertson Runs Braves Ragged

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hospitality is a Southern custom but Atlanta certainly went overboard for Bob Robertson.

Robertson, Pittsburgh's rookie slugger, ran the Braves ragged over the weekend, climaxing the show with two home runs and a double Sunday which drove in six runs in the Pirates' 10-7 victory.

The triumph moved Pittsburgh back into first place in the National League East, one game in front of the New York Mets, who dropped a doubleheader to San Diego 3-0 and 4-2.

In three games against the Braves, Robertson collected 10 hits—four homers, two doubles and four singles—in 13 official at bats. The splurge boosted his batting average 28 points to .306.

Elsewhere in the NL Sunday, Los Angeles whipped Montreal 6-3, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 7-6, Cincinnati tripped Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings and St. Louis dropped Houston 3-2.

In the American League, California ripped Boston 8-3, Milwaukee dropped New York 9-5, Minnesota nipped Detroit 4-3, Cleveland split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning 4-2 before losing 8-7, Baltimore walloped Kansas City 10-8, and Washington split a doubleheader with Oakland winning 6-2 and losing 1-0.

The two homers—a solo shot in the second and a three-run blast in the sixth—gave Robertson 15 home runs for the season, six of them in Atlanta.

Whatever damage Robertson didn't do, John Jeter took care of. Jeter drove in the Pirates other four runs with a three-run homer and a single.

The Mets, meanwhile, bowed meekly to the Padres twice. Danny Coombs and Tom Dukes combined for a four-hit shutout in the opener and eighth inning homers by Nate Colbert and Ed Spiezio broke a tie to decide the nightcap.

The Padres pushed two runs across to snap a scoreless tie in the seventh inning of the first game with Ollie Brown's RBI single and a sacrifice fly by Spiezio breaking up the duel between Coombs and Met starter Jim McAndrew.

Colbert ended a string of seven strikeouts in as many official at bats by ripping his 23rd homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap and then Spiezio also connected.

Los Angeles exploded for five runs in the ninth inning to overtake Montreal. Trailing 3-1 going into the inning, the Dodgers drew even on consecutive homers by Tom Haller and Bill Sudakis. Then Willie Davis singled the tie-breaking runs home and Wes Parker drove in another with a hit.

Cincinnati battled from behind twice, tying the game with runs in the ninth and 10th innings before beating Chicago in the 11th on Bobby Tolan's two-out single.

Tolan's hit scored Ty Cline, who had singled and moved to second on a balk. Clutch hits by rookies Hal McRae in the ninth and Angel Bravo in the 10th keyed tying rallies for the Reds.

Tony Taylor turned Philadelphia's game around with a ninth-inning grand slam homer that beat San Francisco. The Giants had bunched four consecutive run-scoring singles for a five-run seventh inning to take the lead.

But Larry Hisle opened the ninth with a double that fell among three Giant fielders. A single by Doc Edwards and a walk to Terry Harmon loaded the bases for taylor.

Bob Gibson mowed down Houston on four hits, striking out 10 and moving the Cardinals past the Astros. Gibson also drive in the Cardinals' deciding run with a ninth inning single

Colt Staunch Avenger May Win Derby

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The John Manns of Dallas, Tex., may have the winner of next year's Kentucky Derby in Staunch Avenger.

The 2-year-old colt by Staunchness-Careless Miss, by Revoked, became a strong contender for the 1971 Triple Crown classics by his decisive victory in the $135,870 Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park.

"He's the best son of a gun I've ridden," said jockey David Whited after Staunch Avenger drew out in the stretch to beat Pass Catcher by four lengths in 1:11 2-5 for the rich six furlong Sapling last Saturday.

Other big stakes for 2-year-olds, such as the Hopeful at Saratoga, which opens today, and the Garden State Stakes, still are to be run, but the closing burst of Staunch Avenger in the Sapling indicated he can handle the 1¼ miles of the Derby at Churchill Downs next May.

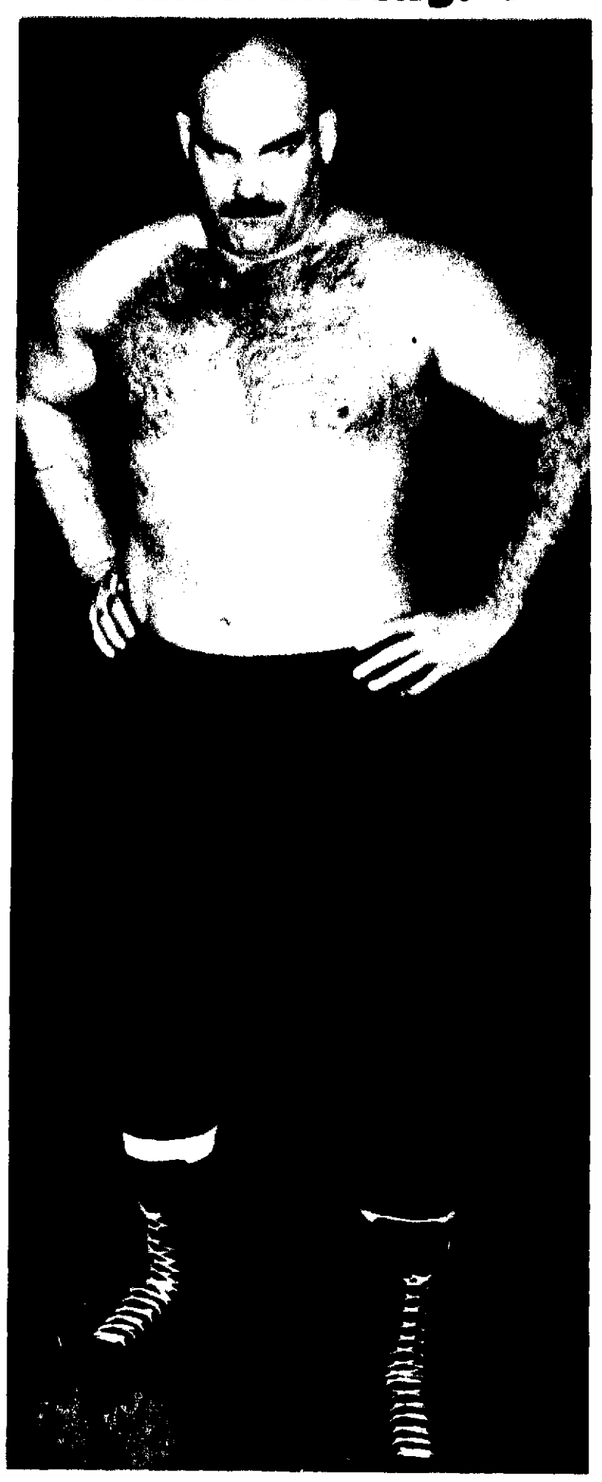

The colt, who runs in the silks of Mrs. Annette Mann, has raced only three times, but won them all in impressive fashion. He won his first race June 29 at Arlington Park by 12 lengths and took an allowance at the Chicago track by four lengths on July 10 before shipping to Monmouth.

Pattee Canyon, a sturdy 5-year-old mare trying for her fourth straight stakes victory at four different tracks within one month, found her top weight of 131 pounds too much in the 1¼ mile $131,000 Delaware Handicap at Delaware Park. She finished fifth to Obeah, $8.80, who carried only 114 pounds.

Obeah, ridden by Leroy Moyers, beat What A Dream by 1¼ lengths and was timed in 2:02 1-5 in winning the Delaware for the second straight year. Pattee Canyon, who had won her previous three starts at Hollywood Park, Arlington and Aqueduct "just wasn't thinking of running and wouldn't extend herself," in the words of jockey Willie Shoemaker.

Mr. Leader $5.40 won the $61,000 Tidal Hndicap at Aqueduct and Well Mannered $8 took the $55,650 Minuteman Handicap at Liberty Bell where the odds-on choice, Silent Screen, finished last.

Travelers 2-1 Over Shreveport

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lefthander George Winslow, with relief help from Tim Thompson, pitched the Arkansas Travelers to a 2-1 Texas League victory over Shreveport Sunday afternoon.

Winslow struck out seven before retiring in the seventh when his arm tightened. Thompson, also a lefthander, retired six batters in a row over the last two innings. He had three strikeouts.

Jose Cruz blasted his 15th homer, a solo shot in the first inning, for one Traveler run. Arkansas wrapped it up in the fourth on Bill Stein's double, Cruz' fly to right and Wayne Dees' sacrifice fly off loser David Gourieux.

Shreveport scored in the fourth on Oscar Brown's double and Bob Toney's single.

In other Texas League games, El Paso defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 2-0, Memphis downed San Antonio 6-1 and Albuquerque beat Amarillo 10-7.

Koch Wins Jr. Amateur Golf Title

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Gary Koch of Temple Terrace, Fla., beat the best en route to the U.S. Junior Amateur Golf title.

He downed the defending champion in the quarter-finals and beat the medalist in the semifinals before trouncing Mike Nelms of Hixson, Tenn., 8 and 6 in Saturday's finals of the 23rd annual tournament at Athens Country Club.

Koch, 17, who had entered the tourney twice before, tied Mike Nelms, 16, on each of the first four holes but then won the next eight holes to reach even par through 12, topping Nelms by 11 strokes.

Koch defeated defending champ Aly Trompas of San Diego Friday and said he was suffering a slight letdown during Saturday morning's semifinals as he faced Mike Fambrough of Valdosta, Ga., who was the medalist in the tournaments first two days of qualifying.

Fambrough was leading by two at the turn, but Koch won the first three holes on the back side to take the lead for good and win 2-up. He shot a four-over-par 75.

Koch was a co-favorite along with Trompas when the five-day tournament began, primarily because of his showing in local qualifying for the U.S. Open in Florida. There he beat the field, which included several touring professionals, by 11 strokes.

Nelms fired a two-over 73 in the semifinals to nip Randall Transou of Bethania, N.C., 1-up. The two entered the last three holes tied, but Nelms captured the 16th and 18th and Transou the 17th.

NFL Players and Owners Sign Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Owners of the National Football League reached agreement with the Players Association today, ending a players' strike which had threatened the 1970 season.

Veteran members of the 26 squads agreed to report to training camps immediately.

The owners had met in the office of Commissioner Pete Rozelle for close to 24 hours, not breaking for sleep.

The players demanded increased pension benefits.

It was the most serious labor dispute in the history of professional sports in the nation.

Millions of dollars in television contracts also were involved.

NEW YORK (AP) — A marathon meeting of the moguls of the National Football League went into its 16th hour at 4 a.m., EDT, today as Commissioner Pete Rozelle moved busily behind the scenes in an effort to end the strike of veteran professionals.

A spokesman said Rozelle met during the night with representatiges of the National Football League Players Association.

It was the 11th hour in the most serious labor dispute in the history of professional sports in this nation. Already it threatened the exhibition season, scheduled to being Friday night with a clash between Cleveland and Los Angeles, the first of 10 weekend preseason games.

There was one report, from NFLPA sources, that a players' group was actually meeting with the owners' negotiating committee, headed by Tex Schramm of the Dallas Cowboys.

Shortly after midnight, however, a league spokesman said, "No players are meeting with the owners."

Schramm, while president of the Cowboys, technically isn't an owner. The team is the property of wealthy Texan Clint Murchison.

Even if there was a bargaining session, the fullscale owners meeting continued in the Part Avenue offices of the league. Several blocks away the NFL set up press headquarters in a plush suite of a midtown Manhattan hostelry. A half-dozen sleepy newsmen and a league representative waited there during the predawn hours.

It was anybody's guess when there would be development in the impasse.

From Cincinnati came word from Mike Brown, assistant general manager of the Bengals, that the owners were making a new contract offer. He said he'd talked by long-distance telephone to New York with his father, Paul Brown, head coach and general manager of the Bengals.

Crux of the contract dispute is the pension plan.

The owners and players were reportedly $8 million apart over the proposed four-year contract period when they met under the aegis of federal mediators last week in Philadelphia. Latest reports indicated the gap had been narrowed to $1.04 million.

Owner Carroll Rosenbloom of the Baltimore Colts warned that unless an accord comes soon there was strong sentiment among owners to cancel the pro season. Kansas City Chief's owner Lamar Hunt, however, said he was prepared to play with rookies and free agents, who aren't involved in the contract hassle.

Brown shut down his rookie camp because he had only 16 prospects in camp. Some other teams have so few on hand they can't get up two 11-man teams for a scrimmange.

The owners, in a position paper issued over a week ago, said their offer at the time would provide an annual pension of $59,000 for a 15-year veteran at the age of 65.

Bill Curry of the Baltimore Colts, manning the NFLPA's strike headquarters in a Washington, D.C., hotel, said in a Sunday interview the association had bungled its public relations efforts to counteract the owners' statements.

"I'm afraid we look like a bunch of greedy slobs," Curry said. The $59,000 figure, which he called quite inflated, would apply to a player who began his pro career this season.

"We're trying to get the pension to apply retroactively to the men who are now veterans. This would reduce the figure tremendously. The stars of today, even under the present offer, would get a pension of $380 a month at 65."

Laver Takes Fifth Win in Six Matches

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Second-seeded Rod Laver took his fifth win in six matches in the past two years from top-seeded fellow Australian John Newcombe Sunday to win the single's crown of the $25,000 Louisville Tennis Classic, 6-3, 6-3.

Laver, who will celebrate his 32nd birthday next Sunday, earned $5,000 for the win, while Wimbledon winner Newcombe took home the runner-up prize of $2,300.

Some revenge came to Newcombe when he teamed with Tony Roche of Australia and triumphed 8-6, 5-7, 6-4 over Laver and Aussie Roy Emerson in the double's final.

The doubles win gave $750 each to Newcombe and Roche and $500 to Laver and Emerson as runners-up.

Says Thrill of Winning Is Gone

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

Stock car racing king Richard Petty continues to visit victory lane with regularity, but he says the thrill of winning isn't as great as it used to be.

Petty, still the hottest driver around at the age of 32 and after 12 years of competition, conquered heat and one of the fastest fields of the year to romp home an easy winner in Sunday's $103,000 Dixie 500 at Atlanta.

The husky veteran from Randleman,N.C., wheeled his familiar blue No. 43 Plymouth in front of the pack 17 laps after the start and so completely dominated the race that he finished almost two miles ahead of his nearest pursuer.

He was credited with leading all but 33 of the 328 laps over the 1.522-mile Atlanta International Raceway. His average speed was a record 142.712 miles per hour.

Austria's Jochen Rindt won another Formula One Grand Prix event and took a commanding lead in the standings for the 1970 world driving championship.

Rindt wheeled his Lotus Ford to victory in the 32nd German Grand Prix at Hockenheim as 190,000 spectators looked on.

In other top weekend auto races, Mark Donohue, in a Javelin, won the SCCA's Trans-America sedan race at Mont Treblant, Que., while George Follmer of Arcadia, Calif., captured a Formula A Continental Championship series event, and Tiny Lund captured the Carolina 250 NASCAR grand American Challenge stock car race at Winston-Salem, N.C.

Petty's Atlanta triumph was the 111th in a career that began in 1958 when he joined the racing team of his father, Lee Petty. The elder Petty retired three years later after 55 Grand National victories and is still No. 2 behind his son in the NASCAR record book.

The first prize check of $19,600 ran Richard's take for the year to $95,125—assuring him of his fourth straight $100,000-plus season. The 6-foot-3, 215-pounder now has banked almost $700,000 in prize money alone.

The 95-degree temperature and a track surface reading of 138 degrees took its toll of other drivers.

Cale Yarborough drove his Mercury to second place and a paycheck of $11,525 But Lee Roy Yarborugh's Ford had Charlie Glotzbach at the wheel when it crossed the line in third place. Yarbrough had to be helped from the car with 100 miles to go and was taken to an Atlanta hospital with heat exhaustion. He was released after an hour.

David Pearson, who led the first lap in a Ford, was overcome by fumes at the 200-mile mark and was treated at the infield hospital. Fred Lorenzen, who had started on the pole, was relieved by Dave Marcis.

Mechanical problems felled some of the other favorites, including Dodge's Bobby Isaac. Isaac had gone into the race with a narrow lead in the championship point battle over Ford's James Hylton. Hylton finished 10th and earned enough points to take over the lead.

Fourth place went to Buddy Baker in a Dodge, while Donnie Allison was fifth in a Ford.

At Hockenheim, Rindt nipped Belgium's Jackie Ickx, in a Ferrari, at the finish line of the 210-mile race. Rindt's time was 1:42.00.3 and Ickx' 1:42.01.0. Rindt averaged 124 m.p.h.

Finishing third, far back, was New Zealander Denis Hulme, followed by Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil. Hulme drove a McLaren. The Brazilian was in a Lotus Ford.

The victory gave Rindt, winner earlier of the French, British and Monaco Grand Prix events, 45 points in the driving standings.

Australian Jack Brabham, whose Brabham Special was forced out by mechanical troubles at Hockenheim, is distant second with 25 points, followed by Hulme with 20 and defending world champion Jackie Stewart of Scotland with 19.

Donohue, registering his third Trans-Am victory this year, finished one minute 1.5 seconds ahead of Follmer, in a Mustang. Parnelli Jones, also in a Mustang, was third.

Follmer's victory came Saturday in a Formula A race, driving a Lotus 70. He led from start to finish. John Cannon of Montreal was second.

Lund, driving a Camaro, outdueled veteran Buck Baker, in a Firebird, to win at Winston-Salem. It was Lund's 17th triumph this year. He finished less than a second ahead of Baker.

Synthetic Grass Used in Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)— Four seeded players were set for early action today as the week-long $50,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships got under way on a synthetic grass surface at Longwood.

Scheduled for first day appearances were fourth-seeded Tony Roche of Australia, fifth-seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain, sixth-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia and U.S. Davis Cup star Arthur Ashe, who is rated eighth in the field of 32.

Gimeno drew Charlie Pasarell, another American Davis Cupper, while Emerson was paired with countryman Bill Bowrey in afternoon matches.

Roche is due to face unseeded Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., while Ashe is scheduled to play Pierre Barthes of France in first round action under the lights.

Top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia and Aussie Rod Laver, the No. 2 seed although he has won the title here the past four years, are expected to launch bids for the $12,000 top prizes Tuesday.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jim Lonborg, the 1967 Cy Young Award winner shipped to the Louisville Colonels of the International League from the Boston Red Sox 10 days ago, allowed only two hits in five innings Sunday in his first start nor the Colonels as they whipped the Richmond Braves 8-1.

Lonborg struck out three and walked five—two intentionally and allowed one earned run.

SANDHAMN, Sweden (AP) — A bad start in the last race spoiled Brazil's chances to win the European Star Boat Championships.

After earlier winning two out of four sailings, Brazil's Jorg Bode placed only ninth in Sunday's last race. He was beaten by Stig Wenner-Stroem, Sweden, with five points in the total standings.

Sweden thus took the championships for fourth consecutive year.

He's Playing Tennis Better Than Ever

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) Cliff Richey says he's playing tennis better than ever before and not many people will dispute that statement after his strong victory Sunday over Stan Smith in the finals of the $50,000 National Clay Court Tennis Championships.

The 23-year-old San Angelo, Tex., native stopped Uncle Sam's No. 1-ranked net star, Smith, 6-2, 10-8, 3-6, 6-1, in the three-sets-of-five match at the Woodstock Club here.

In women's singles, the victor was surprising youngster Linda Tuero, 19, of Metaire, La., who downed defending champion Gail Chanfreau.

His victory over the U.S. Davis Cupper from Pasadena, Calif., was Richey's seventh of the year and his second in three weeks. It was also the second time he has won the Clay Court, taking the singles title in 1966.

Richey accepted the $8,000 first place check and said, "It's a big title and I'm just happy to win it. I want to come back next year and try to retire the trophy. That's a big ambition of mine."

Miss Tuero, a Tulane University sophomore, had to pass up the top prize money of $2,500 because she's an amateur. But, the pig-tailed miss was extremely poised in taking the victory 7-5, 6-1.

In the men's doubles, Arthur Ashe of Gum Springs, Va., and Clark Graebner of New York, two of Uncle Sam's top four, defeated two members of the Romanian Davis Cup Team, Ile Nastase and Ion Tiriac, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Mrs. Chanfreau and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, the Wimbledon doubles queen, won the women's doubles, topping Pat Walkden of Rhodesia and Helen Gourlay of Australia, 6-2, 6-2.

W. Germany, Spain in Cup Semifinals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spain and West Germany gained the semifinals of the Davis Cup tennis competition Sunday for the right to meet the United States, defending champion, in the Challenge Cup at Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 29-31.

Both countries clinched the semifinals by winning doubles matches to take an unbeatable 3-0 lead in the best-of-5 interzone final.

Spain's Manuel Santana and Juan Gisbert defeated Brazil's Thomas Koch and Jose Edson Mandarino, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4, at Sao Paulo, while Poona, India, Wilhelm Bungert and Christian Khunke of West Germany downed India's Jaideep Mukherjea and Premjit Lall, 6-4, 4-6, 13-11, 63.

Spain and West Germany meet in the semifinal round Aug. 15-17 at a site to be announced, probably Munich or Duesseldorf.

Santana, Spain's top player, and Manuel Orantes won the opening singles matches Saturday over Mandarino and Koch.

Texan Wins Mens' Singles Trophy

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — John Layman of Dallas, Tex., won the mens 50 singles trophy in the Pelican State tennis tournament Sunday.

Layman claimed the trophy after Maury Lewis of Pine Bluff, Ark., retired trailing Layman 3-6, 1-3.

Hibernia is an old name for Ireland. It comes from the Latin "Juverna," which scholars believe to be the name Julius Caesar gave the country.

WANTED! Men & Women

Failure to Blow Nose Is Not a Cause of Colds

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My grandson, 7, has many colds. Am I right in thinking that this is because he never blows his nose?

A—Although blowing the nose helps one to be more comfortable when one has a cold and to get rid of it quicker, failure to blow will not cause the colds. They are caused by a virus. Many children have trouble learning to blow their noses until they are 6 or 7.

Q—My son, 6, gets nosebleeds that last for nearly an hour. Our doctor says it is because of the low humidity in our home. Do you agree? If so, what can we do?

A—Dry indoor air causes dry crusts in the nose and these often cause nosebleeds. Most homes should use a humidifier in the winter. A pan of water on the radiator is not enough. You should teach your son to apply a very thin film of mineral oil or one of the nasal ointments inside his nose at bedtime to keep the crusts soft.

Q—I have heard that a new drug, 5-HTP, will help mongoloid children? Is this true?

A—In a recent study, the muscular tone of mongoloid infants was improved when 5-HTP, a metabolic forerunner of serotonin, which is a muscular stimulant, was given. The doctors working with this drug, which is still experimental, warn that there is no evidence that it will change the child's mongoloid features or improve his intelligence.

Q—Our grandson, 7, has Bright's disease. What are the cause and symptoms? Can it be cured?

A—Nephritis or Bright's disease is a frequent complication of streptococcal sore throat, scarlet fever or rheumatic fever. The symptoms, which vary widely, include headache, pepplessness, blood in the urine and waterlogging but in many cases these symptoms are mild or absent. With rest, a bland diet and antibiotics, most victims make a complete recovery.

Q—My son has hemophilia. Since this is a hereditary disease and there have been no cases of it on either side of the family, how did he get it?

A—Although in most cases this disease is transmitted through the genes from an unaffected mother to some but not all of her sons, it may also appear without any traceable family history. Fortunately, great advances have been made in the treatment of this disease.

LEGAL NOTICE

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the City of Hope has recently been presented with several claims for damages by property owners due to sewerage backing into houses; and

WHEREAS, there is no liability on the part of the City for such occurrences; and

WHEREAS, sewer lines and facilities at or near private residences are constructed and paid for by property owners themselves, or by improvement districts, and not by the City of Hope at public expense; and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of each property owner to install a "pop off valve" or to take such other steps as may be necessary to protect his/her property against the possibility of sewerage backing into the buildings;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CITY OF HOPE, ARKANSAS:

1. That it be called to the attention of the public generally that the City of Hope is not liable for such occurrences; and

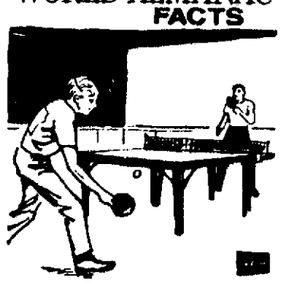

2. That each property owner has the duty to take steps to prevent sewerage from backing into his/her buildings in event a blockage of a line should occur; and

3. That will be the policy of the City of Hope not to pay any claims of this type in the future unless ordered to do so by a court of competent jurisdiction after a full judicial hearing.

YOU CAN PREVENT HOUSE BURGLARY

By MR. FIX

A determined burglar can break into almost any house. Burglar-proof locks and certain precautions, while not making your house absolutely safe from break-ins, will certainly make them less likely.

While it is true that a good burglar can break into almost any place, he is likely to pick spots where risks will be few and speed possible.

Your first line of defense is the outward appearance that your house is occupied. If you are going to be gone for a period of days, stop deliveries of newspapers, mail, milk and other packages.

Arrange to have someone pick up any deliveries that might come anyway. If you'll be gone long, make arrangements to have the grass cut and watered so that it will look as if someone is home to give the place regular attention.

Do not close shades and blinds except in rooms where they normally would be. Leave others partially open, but not so much that someone looking in could see all the rooms.

Do not leave lights burning all the time. This is a giveaway. Install timers that will turn a few lights on and off for a few hours each evening. Having a radio on for part of the evening will help too, since noise will give a greater impression of occupancy.

In spite of all precautions someone may still learn that you are away. So you need good jimmy-proof locks. The ordinary spring latch that locks when you slam the door is not enough. These can be forced by a skillful burglar.

All outside doors should be equipped with the kind of lock known as a deadbolt. Instead of a slanted bolt it has a square bolt which must be turned with a key from the outside and with a handle on the inside.

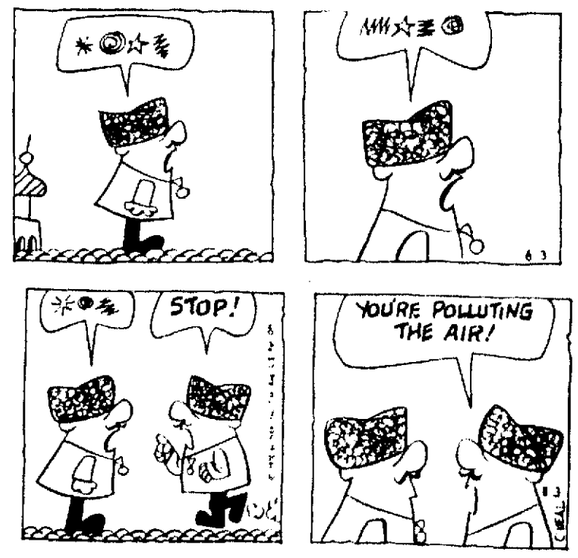

If you have a glass panel in the door through which someone could reach the lock after breaking the glass you need further protection. Get a double barrel lock, one that must be opened with a key on the inside as well as the outside.

Install bolts at the top and bottom of patio doors to augment the lightweight locks on most such doors. A burglar will not smash the entire pane of glass, just enough to reach the lock.

There are locks you can put on double hung windows so that you can leave them partially open. The lock will prevent full opening.

Put barrel bolts on the inside of the frame of cellar windows to augment the flimsy locks usually found on them.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—How did Lucifer come to be a name for the devil?

Q—Why does the moon have no weather?

A—Because of the lack of atmosphere, there can be no rain, snow, clouds or wind.

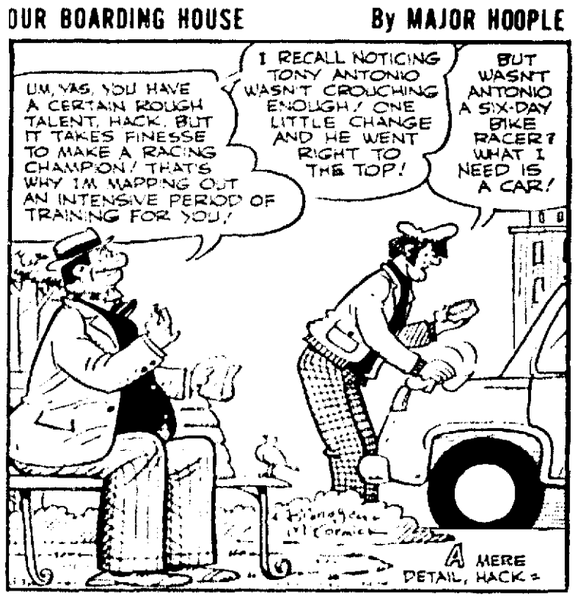

Q—How far can a frog jump?

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. JULIUS O. ELLIBY

The Rising Star Missionary Baptist Church was the scene Saturday, June 20 at 5:30 p.m. for the wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Doris Smith to Julius O. Elliby.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Boots Smith, Jr., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Adelle Elliby of New York, N.Y.

Dr. Charles A. Hunter of Dallas, performed the double-ring ceremony. Music was furnished by Mrs. Neva Carmicheal, organist, and Billy Cooper who sang "Into the Night" and "My Prayer."

Vows were exchanged before the altar which was adorned with seven branched candelabra and flanked candle trees on each side, completing the arrangement with garlands of greenery and baskets of white glads and stock. The candles were lighted by Misses Robbie and Jacquelyn Smith, neices of the bride.

The bride escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a Bridal original waistline silhouette of Imported Silk Organza.

The fitted bodice had a scalloped chantilly lace sabrina neckline heavilly beaded and pearled. The long sleeves also trimmed ended in lily points over her hands. The very full A line skirt appliqued with pearled and beaded re-embroidered chantilly lace motifs swept into a full cathedral length train embellished with pearles and beaded medallions. Her veil was four tiers of illusions held in place by a lace and pearl trimmed ring band. She carried a cascade bouquet of fleur-D'Amour Shasta and daisies. She also observed the traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue."

Bruce Takes Over for US at Talks

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador David K.E. Bruce arrived today to take over the U.S. delegation at the Vietnam peace talks and said he has "a broad latitude" from President Nixon in trying to end the deadlock.

The 72-year-old white-haired veteran diplomat was relaxed and smiling as he talked briefly with newsmen at Orly Airport.

"I will participate in this week's session of the Vietnam conference," he said.

"The United States desires to see an end to the conflict and I shall report frequently to the President and the secretary of state on how, hopefully, progress is made at this conference, and I shall also make recommendations to them."

It was the first time that a ranking American delegation official has publicly described the Vietnam talks as a "conference."

The word conference is used by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong as part of their effort to emphasize the status of the Viet Cong delegation. The United States and South Vietnam for the past 19 months have refused to elevate the Vietnam talks to the level of a full conference.

The U.S. delegation spokesmen, Stephen Ledogar said, however, there was no significance to Bruce's use of the word.

A newsman asked whether he had brought any new instructions from Nixon. Bruce said that "the President has given me a broad latitude of movement."

He declined to answer any other questions on the talks.

The early "Circuit Riders" were itinerant preachers of the Methodist Church. The circuit system was introduced into America by Francis Ashbury.

Dumping of Nerve Gas Debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee launched today a probe into Army plans to dump more than 3,000 tons of obsolete nerve gas rockets into the Atlantic Ocean about 280 miles off Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Reps. Alton Lennon, D-N.C., and Paul Rogers, D-Fla., called the meetings by the House merchant marine and fisheries subcommittee following the Army's disclosure of its plans.

Rogers said he wants to learn why the Army cannot dispose of the nerve gas in laboratories. He also questioned whether there has been sufficient study on what might happen if the gas leaked out on the ocean floor.

Representatives of the Army and departments of State, Interior, and Health, Education and Welfare have been called to testify.

Several congressmen have complained about the proposed plan to move the gas from Army depots at Anniston, Ala., and Lexington, Ky., to Sunny Point Arsenal near Southport, N.C.

The gas will be carried from there by barge and scuttled in 16,000 feet of water in the Atlantic on Aug. 10. The gas rockets will be encased in steel and concrete coffins.

"I think it ironic that in a time when the federal government is trying to halt the dumping of pollutant matters in waterways we have a branch of the government dumping nerve gas in the Atlantic Ocean," Rogers said.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., said he has been given "absolute assurance" by Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor that no action will be taken on the transportation and dumping plan until after the hearings and consultations with the Florida congressional delegation.

Some congressmen contended the Army violated international law in plans to dump the gas into the Atlantic. Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., said the United States is obligated by the 1958 Geneva Convention on the law of the sea to consult with international committees before disposing of potentially hazardous pollutants in international waters.

Army officials said notification had been given the State Department. The Army also said that clearance on elaborate safety precautions had been obtained from the Interior Department and the surgeon general.

U.S. Wiretap Cases Now Total 133

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department reports it has used wiretaps or electronic surveillance in 133 cases in the past 18 months—and 419 persons have been arrested as a result.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the accounting vindicated the judgment of the Senate in approving wiretapping with court permission.

"Fortunately, the present administration is making forceful and effective use of it," McClellan said in placing the wiretapping report in the Congressional Record.

McClellan said opponents of the bill that legalized wiretaps contended it would permit "promiscuous snooping and the invasion of privacy of American citizens without any corresponding gain to law enforcement.

"These fears and predictions have in no way materialized," he said. McClellan said there have been no reports of abuse or misuse of wiretapping powers.

Henry E. Petersen, deputy assistant attorney general, said the Justice Department has applied to the courts for 137 wiretapping orders, obtained all but one, and used all but three.

In each case, he said, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has personally approved the application before authorizing its filing.

Eighty-two of the cases involved gambling violations, 28 involved narcotics, Petersen said.

He said 121 of the wiretaps were productive, producing 419 arrests and 325 indictments. Only five people have been convicted, he said, but that is because none of the cases involved has yet come to trial. The five convictions were produced by guilty pleas.

McClellan said the results of "just a few of these court approved wiretaps" include:

—Seizure of 124 pounds of heroin worth $8 million.

—Breakup of two numbers racket rings operating in 60 locations in the Midwest.

—Recovery of $500,000 in stolen bonds.

—Prevention of a murder and recovery of the loot in a bank robbery, both of which agents overhead being planned.

200 Feared Dead as Boat Capsizes

By FRANK MURRAY
Associated Press Writer

NEVIS, West Indies (AP) — A 75-foot motor launch designed to carry about 180 people on its ferry shuttles between the islands of Nevis and St. Kitts had aboard "probably 270 to 300" persons when it capsized and sank in five minutes Saturday, a government official said Sunday night.

Between 175 and 200 were feared dead. Forty-three bodies had been recovered by late Sunday, and there were 88 survivors. All were believed residents of the two islands except three Roman Catholic nuns—two from Canada and one from England—who were drowned.

The U.S. Coast Guard said some of the others might have been washed out to sea. But most were believed entombed with the boat's captain, James Ponteen, inside the steel hull in 130 feet of water about a mile off the southeast tip of St. Kitts.

Coast Guard divers were to inspect the hull later this week.

Harbormaster Edrade Walwyn estimated the number of passengers aboard the ferry Christena when she went down Saturday, but he said ticket records were aboard the boat.

Lee Moore, information officer for the local government acknowledged that the government ferry "had on slightly too many passengers" and added, "We understand the capsize was caused by uneven distribution of passengers."

The Coast Guard quoted an unidentified government official that the ferry "started leaning, and the people flocked to one side, with the result that it capsized."

The boat apparently was in trouble soon after it left Basseterre, St. Kitts, on the 11-mile, one-hour trip to Charlestown, Nevis.

"It started leaning," said Diana Williams, 19, a bank clerk returning home to Nevis. "Everybody started jumping off. It went down suddenly. People were yelling; some with words, some just screeching. We started holding onto the boat. Then it went under, and everybody seemed to be hanging onto each other.

If we ever had any doubts that American society is rapidly changing, a scene we witnessed the other day has wiped them all from our mind.

Picture it - a sweet, little, old, bespectacled, grey-headed lady hunched behind the wheel of a four-barrel carb, overhead cam, eight-pack powered, rear-ended raised super sports car scratching down Magnolia Drive.

A Foolproof Way To Balance Budget

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., almost balanced the federal budget single-handedly (something which few U.S. Presidents and Congresses combined have managed to do in recent decades).

That is, had an amendment sponsored by Sen. Curtis passed, everyone could rest assured that the budget would have been balanced - for the Curtis amendment specified that the $12,500 annual pay hike Congress recently rewarded itself with would be suspended until the budget was balanced.

Come to think of it, maybe the way to solve the nation's perennial budget-balance woes for once and for all is simply to write a one-sentence constitutional amendment, specifying that Congress shall receive no salary until the budget has been balanced. - Jacksonville (Fla.) The weather for Arkansas for the next few days is expected to be mostly hot and humid with a chance of isolated thundershowers forecast.

A high-pressure system will dornate the state's weather for the next few days.

Temperatures are expected to continue reaching for the 100 degree mark during the early part of the week.

Castro Gets First Look at Jumbo Jet After Its Hijacking

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — A bearded young hijacker gave Fidel Castro his first look at a Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner Sunday. The hijacker got off in Havana, the pilot showed the Cuban prime minister around the outside of the plane and answered his questions, then the plane and the other 378 persons aboard flew to Miami and Puerto Rico.

It was the first 747 hijacking. The big plane went into service six months ago.

A young man who spoke with an accent and "resembled Che Guevara" pulled a gun on a stewardess and ordered her to take him to the cockpit 90 minutes after the Pan American flight left New York for San Juan with 360 passengers and a crew of 19 aboard.

The gunman carried a bag which he said contained explosives. He ordered the pilot, Capt. Augustus Watkins, to take him to Cuba. Castro was waiting at Jose Marti airport when the giant jet landed at 5:31 a.m.

Only Watkins and the hijacker got off during the plane's 52-minute stay.

Castro looked over the plane for more than half an hour, as and the pilot talked through an interpreter. Watkins said he invited Castro aboard, but the prime minister declined, saying, "I would probably scare the passengers."

The 53-year-old flier said Castro asked many questions: about the passengers and cargo the 747 could carry, the crew needed to operate it, its speed and other performance details.

"He was particularly interested in whether the plane would be able to take off from the Cuban airfield," Watkins said. "I told him that was not a problem."

Watkins said the hijacker wanted to get his luggage off the plane, but the pilot explained that the necessary special equipment wasn't available.

"After I promised to see that the luggage was shipped to Havana on another flight, Castro gave orders to clear us for takeoff," Watkins said.

The plane flew to Miami for refueling, and FBI agents boarded it to question those who had talked with the hijacker. He was traveling in the first class compartment, and the stewardess he pulled the gun on said he was about 25 and told her he was Puerto Rican.

The plane arrived in San Juan at 10:45 a.m., nearly seven hours behind schedule.

Iraq Under Pressure for Peace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Libya and the Soviet Union put pressure on Iraq today to get behind President Gamal Abdel Nasser in his coming indirect negotiations with Israel.

As defense and foreign ministers of some Arab states gathered in Libya to discuss strategy in the wake of Israel's acceptance of the U.S. cease-fire proposal, Libyan strongman Muammar Kadafi conferred in Cairo with the Egyptian president prior to visiting Baghdad.

Meanwhile, the Soviet government issued an "urgent invitation" for an Iraqi delegation to visit Moscow Tuesday. The Soviets were expected to threaten to reduce military and other aid to Iraq unless the Iraqis eased their opposition to the American proposal and the Egyptian and Jordanian acceptance of it.

Iraq and Algeria both announced they would boycott the meeting of Arab ministers opening in Tripoli today, and Syria was expected to follow their lead.

That would leave only Egypt, Jordan, Sudan and Libya represented.

Jail View of Manson Case Figures

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The three long-haired girls in jail uniforms giggle and whisper at times while Charles M. Manson strokes his beard and makes funny faces at an artist drawing his picture.

At moments, the defendants in the Sharon Tate murder trial seem solemn. They sit with eyes downcast, scribbling pictures and notes.

Even the lurid testimony of the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, which has brought gasps from spectators, has failed to shake the defendants visibly. The defense continues cross-examining her today.

Testimony by Mrs. Kasabian of group sex among their hippie-style "family" of drug usage and of the murders of Miss Tate and six others haven't moved the defendants.

The girls—Susan Atkins, 21, Leslie Van Housten, 20, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22—smile directly at Mrs. Kasabian, a former "family" member. At one point, the shaggy-haired Manson focused his gaze on the witness while stroking his beard, and the girls picked up the motions, rhythmically stroking their faces and staring at Mrs. Kasabian.

Following Manson's lead, the women scratched crosses on their foreheads after he slashed one on his forehead with a razor blade. And his calm demeanor apparently has dictated theirs.

Subdued in comparison to their early days in court, the girls have also abandoned colorful attire they once wore. Pale and listless, they shuffle into court in dark blue jail denims and sweatshirts.

The 92 seats in the old, dark-beamed courtroom have been jammed daily with spectators and reporters. But the remaining members of Manson's "family" rarely get inside. Most have been subpoenaed as prosecution witnesses and they are excluded from court until they testify.

Uruguay May Free Political Prisoners in Kidnaping Wake

By ANIBAL ARGUELLO
Associated Press Writer

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — There was speculation today that President Jorge Pacheco Areco would declare a general amnesty for political prisoners to satisfy the ransom demand of the kidnapers of an American aid official and a Brazilian consul.

The government refused comment after the Tupamaro guerrillas Sunday demanded the release of all political prisoners. Pacheco Areco said earlier he would never "negotiate with an amnesty were aroused by a statement from Vice President Alberto Abdala that "this is the hour of peace, of conciliation, of understanding and even of amnesty."

The number of political prisoners is estimated to be between 100 and 150. The demand for their release was the largest in Latin America's 11-month-old wave of political kidnaping of foreign diplomats, but so far there was no threat to harm the two hostages. Nor was any deadline set.

The government announced that more than 100 persons have been arrested since the abduction Friday of Dan A. Mitrione, 50, of Richmond, Ind., and Aloysio Mares Diaz Gomide, 41.

Acting on an anonymous telephone tip, police found handwritten letters from the two missing men to their wives Sunday behind a mirror in the women's lavatory of a bar.

Mitrione asked his wife to tell American Ambassador Charles W. Adair Jr., to "do all he can to free me as soon as possible."

He said he was recovering from a wound received in the kidnaping and that the guerrillas were questioning him extensively about the American aid program for the Uruguayan police. Mitrione, former police chief in Richmond, is an adviser to the police.

The Tupamaros said Friday that Mitrione underwent surgery for a bullet wound in the chest, but they didn't say how he was injured.

The Brazilian Embassy said Diaz Gomide's letter also asked the ambassador to aid in securing his release.

The Tupamaros became active in 1963 and have increased terrorist activities recently.

Previously the movement kidnaped only Uruguayan officials and always set them free without demanding ransom.

Undersea Missile Test Set Today

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With a Soviet spy ship standing by to observe, the nuclear submarine James Madison today attempts the first submerged launching of the Navy's new multiple-warhead Poseidon missile.

The Madison was to unleash the two-stage missile while cruising beneath the surface of the Atlantic 30 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

The rocket's multiple independently targeted reentry vehicle—MIRV—is aimed at a target more than 1,000 miles down the Atlantic test range. Each MIRV is capable of carrying up to 10 warheads. Nuclear devices are not carried on test rockets.

The milestone launch had been scheduled last Monday, but it was postponed after a Russian fishing trawler laden with electronic gear probed to within 200 yards of the James Madison during a practice firing run July 24.

Later, the Navy said it would go ahead with the launch despite the trawler. Soviet spy ships often monitor Cape Kennedy launches and warhead re-entries down range, but none ever came so close to a missile submarine before.

A U.S. Destroyer stood by today to prevent the trawler from getting too close. The move is more for the trawler's protection than to prevent it from spying. If the rocket blew up, debris could harm the Soviet ship.

Since the July 24 incident, the Russian vessel has been circling and fishing about 15 miles off shore.

Newsmen were invited to ride a support ship to witness the launch when originally scheduled. But after the trawler affair, the Defense Department said reporters were not welcome. Under pressure from newsmen, defense officials reversed themselves Sunday and said reporters could come along.

There have been 20 earlier Poseidon test firings here, 17 from a land pad on the cape and three from a surface ship.

State Road Toll Put at 5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons died as a result of traffic accidents on Arkansas highways over the weekend.

Rosalynd A. Porter, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Porter Sr. of College Sataion, was killed Sunday when she was struck by a car in College Station near Little Rock.

Authorities said she was struck by a car driven by Herman H. Williams, 32, of College Sation.

Charles Foster, 29, of Alma was killed Sunday when his pickup truck crashed on U.S. 64 about 1½ miles east of Van Buren. State Police said Foster apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

Cecil Rickett, 61, of Traskwood died Saturday night at a Benton hospital of injuries he suffered earlier in the day in an accident on Arkansas 51 about six miles south of Gurdon.

State Police said Rickett was a passenger in a vehicle driven by Jessie Jeffus Jr., 27, of Traskwood. Troopers said Jeffus swerved to avoid a collision with another vehicle traveling in the wrong lane and lost control.

Jeffus and Mike Merritt, 27, of Traskwood were hospitalized.

William R. Ross, 15, of Little Rock died Friday night when he apparently lost control of the vehicle he was driving and it crashed on a county road about 31 miles north of Hector.

Ernest Carr, 51, of Arkadelphia was killed early Saturday when his pickup truck crashed on Arkansas 51 about seven miles east of Arkadelphia.

Urban Renewal Meet Set

The project area committee of the Hope Central Urban Renewal Project R-100, will meet in the Douglas Building, at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 5.

Mike Kelly, executive director, has called the meeting to explain, to some 40 property owners and tenants in the project area who have agreed to serve on the Project Area Committee, the purpose of a Committee, and a suggested organizational set up.

The meeting is open to the public and should prove interesting to all citizens and particularly to those who have property within the 77 acres involved.

All property owners, with known addresses, have received a letter inviting them to serve on the PAC, and 40 or more have responded. The meeting will last about one hour.

Nixon Reform Welfare Bill in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's welfare reform proposal faces major revision in the Senate Finance Committee, but at least one member has assured the White House the proposal will go before the full Senate.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the panel, said he had relayed such an assurance to Nixon through a top White House official.

"In all my years on this committee, it has never killed a major piece of legislation by bottling it up, even when the chairman and ranking members were opposed to it," he said.

"If President Nixon wants a Senate vote on this bill in this session, I am certain the committee will see that he gets it."

At the same time, Williams, a strong critic of the measure in its original and revised form, said bluntly, "This bill is in trouble in the committee as it now stands.

"I believe a big majority of the members will insist on changes before they will vote to report it out."

However, administration strategists in the Senate are not greatly concerned about any amendments the committee might adopt to cut back on the new Family Assistance Plan which the legislation would set up.

They believe there will be enough votes on the Senate floor to knock out any such changes.

A more important uncertainty surrounding the fate of the legislation appears now to involve the timing of Senate action. Some backers fear it will be impossible to get it passed by the Senate and through a Senate-House conference before Congress quits for the Nov. 3 elections.

Presidential Primary Set for State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Proposals providing for the election of delegates to the Democratic national convention and establishing a presidential preferential primary in Arkansas have been approved in principle by a special committee of the Democratic State Committee.

Currently, the Democratic State Committee selects delegates to the national convention. There is no presidential preferential primary in Arkansas.

Drafts of the proposals, approved Saturday, will be submitted to the Democratic State Committee Sept. 10. Later, the Democratic state convention will consider the proposals.

The proposals call for the election of 80 per cent of the delegates to the national convention. The State Committee would select the other 20 per cent. The delegates would be elected from state senatorial districts.

The delegates would be elected on the second Tuesday in March and at the same time, the voters would select a Democratic presidential nominee from a list of actual and prospective candidates supplied by the State Committee.

The elected delegates to the national convention would be bound through the first ballot to vote for the preference of the voters in the district they represent. Those delegates appointed by the State Committee would be bound through the first ballot by the statewide preference.

'Celia' Heads for Corpus Christi

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Celia aimed her 90 mile an hour winds at the Texas coast today as thousands of residents fled the approaching winds, rain and tides rolling in well above normal.

Police ordered some 3,000 persons evacuated from Port Aransas, a resort community on Mustang Island just off Corpus Christi. North Corpus Christi beach, a vacation area of motels, trailer parks and beaches, was ordered cleared, too.

Some people were refusing to leave.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was expected to strike the coast later today with as much as eight inches of rain as well as high winds.

But it was the tides that were feared most in this very flat coastal area.

They were expected to be five to seven feet above normal.

At midmorning, the hurricane was about 135 miles from Corpus Christi and was heading straight for it. Winds were 90 miles an hour, a decrease from the earlier 115 m.p.h.

At Corpus Christi, the main bayfront area appeared calm. A few persons stood on the beach watching the water, which at 8 a.m. was normal. Streets carried normal morning traffic.

Police Cmdr. C. C. Hagan at Corpus Christi said, speaking of experience in previous hurricanes, "Our problem over there (on North Corpus Christi Beach) is the mobile homes. The people in mobile homes don't want to leave at first and then at the last minute they want to go and they can't get anybody to move them."

Swells 6 to 8 feet high — to the delight of some young surfers — pounded the coast in advance of the storm Sunday night while thousands of persons seeking to escape the fury of Celia clogged highways leading out of Galveston.

Aircraft owners as far from the coast as Houston—50 miles — flew their planes to safer areas in North Texas and Oklahoma. Pilots at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston began ferrying large C130 cargo planes to safety at Lockbourne Air Force Base, Ohio.

Ships at Houston, Galveston, Baytown and other Texas ports were expected to stay docked until passage of the storm.

Workers at Texas City were filling sand bags as a wall against expected high tides.

Gulf Coast rice and cotton farmers expressed fears a major storm would severely damage what has been expected to be an exceptionally good crop.

Red Cross and other civil relief agencies were gearing up shelters and relief centers along the coast for a possible 175,000 refugees. Red Cross units in Oklahoma, Kansas and Illinois were put on a standby basis for possible duty in the storm area.

Emergency operations centers of the Texas Department of Public Safety were activated Sunday.

A Coast Guard plane from Corpus Christi was dispatched to alert offshore oil rig crews and persons in other remote areas of Celia's approach.

Search for Man Is Discontinued

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)—A two-day search for a Fort Smith man believed drowned in Beaver Lake was discontinued late Sunday night.

The man identified as Charles Stafford, 36, was last seen late Saturday evening in the Rocky Branch area of the lake.

A witness said the man swam from a houseboat to a raft and attempted to swim back.

Benton County Sheriff's deputies said Stafford swam part of the way back, rolled over as if to float and then sank.

Rescue units from Bentonville, Rogers, Springdale and Fayetteville participated in the search.
